PUBLIC COMMENTS:

- Zygmunt Jagiello feels that the project is difficult, is a large project and is unusual. He feels that this application addresses complicated issues and feels the Board of Trustees should be involved. He is not thrilled to have this application before the Planning Board. The Board discussed their point of view.

- Dominick Masiello feels the Planning Board will need to address the traffic flow.

- Jonathan Fielding said the Planning Board only needs to review the flow of traffic and in and out of the property.

- Ken Kraft plans to give a document review to the Planning Board He feels H2M’s analysis was incomplete and plans to make a formal presentation. He prefers that the Board of Trustees handle this application.

- Jim Avena reiterated the Board of Trustees had Cameron engineering do a separate engineering review of the H2M document and soil test results.

- Peter Dejana told Trustee Kraft that he feels that he is against his project altogether and that the planning Board now has to accept the decision of the Board of Trustees.

- Rita Di Lucia noted that during the work session the Board of Trustees decided that Avena would recuse himself regarding this application.

- Ken Kraft told Dejana that agrees that he is against his application and the variances that were granted by the BZA.

- Jonathan Fielding quoted a local law stating that it was very clear that the Board of Trustees could transfer matters to the planning Board. Another portion of the local law stated that they may review it if it’s under a half acre, so there is some confusion in the laws.

- Jim Avena stated the Planning Board will have their own engineer to assist them.

- Nick Marra stated the Board of Trustees has the power to refer this to the Planning Board. He went to all of the meeting in both the BZA and Planning Board with reference to this property. The 200 people who attended asked multiple questions. If Ken thought there were inconsistencies, he should have brought them up at those meetings; he did not.

- Rita Di Lucia said she didn’t realize that the Planning Board or “Ziggy” was so uncomfortable hearing this application, but after some discussion she said nothing has changed in the overall opinion of the Board of Trustee.

- Jeremy Devine discussed the “Poppy Program.”
