

Siding and Roofing

Q: Do I need a permit to replace the siding on my home or replace the roof?

A: No, you don't need a permit to replace vinyl siding on your home. However, a permit is required when you alter or replace any structural component in the building. A permit is also required if you replace the sheathing to which the roof shingles are attached.